Crime's Jackals

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

CHICAGO, Feb. 12—An interesting mayoralty campaign progresses here, where everything is done energetically.

Mayor Thompson conducts what he calls "a jackass show", displaying a desert donkey, with dummies representing his opponents on its back, and an elephant representing the Republican party.

The mayor intimates that the public knows more than both his opponents combined. Concerning the elephant, he says it can go many days without drinking, but who wants to be an elephant?"

• • •

MAYOR THOMPSON'S opponent, Judge Lyle, is also a politician. To offset the desert donkey at his meetings, he displays a collection of sawed-off shotguns, sub-machine guns, explosive bombs and other tools of the gangster's trade. He says the gangsters want Mayor Thompson elected and fear him, Judge Lyle.

Judge Lyle, still offsetting the desert donkey, uses his best language. He calls Mayor Thompson "jumbo jawed relief quack."

Dr. John D. Robertson, supporting Judge Lyle, says Chicago was headed for vigilante and lamppost meaning mob rule, when Judge Lyle came to the rescue.

A similar advertisement published in the Chicago American a week ago produced such results that the advertisement was repeated yesterday.

"The Fair" realizes that it is not wise to whisper in a great crowd of readers, when you can afford shouts.

Such advertising clears shelves of goods, employs many in the selling, provides work for many more, producing goods to refill emptied shelves.

The Fair, like big stores in other cities, has branches in different parts of the city, giving the advertiser the full value of newspaper circulation. Maor Namm, owner of a Brooklyn store, recently advertised on the same big scale in New York. If you have the right goods, at right values, and courage to advertise aggressively you can sell the goods.

• • •

THE CAMPAIGN is getting warm even for Chicago, where nothing is done coldly.

Mayor Thompson has sued Judge Lyle for $100,000, and meanwhile one of the newspapers, full of local patriotism, wishes you to know that government records concerning crime show that Chicago stands number 68 from the top. Outside editors are requested to stop kicking Chicago's crime dog around. Let them look to their own crime records.

Florida will be pleased to hear that the city with the lowest crime record in the United States is Tampa.

THAT CHICAGO deserves the crime reputation is partly the result of good newspaper reporting. Everything is done and told spectacularly, and never to be forgotten names are invented for the criminals.

You would never guess from Paul Block's quiet home paper, published in Toledo, O., that Toledo stands first in crime percentage, according to the record, with 236.1 crimes for each 10,000 population, against

TWO CHILDREN PERISH WHEN HOME BURNS

BLAST STARTS FLAMES

Parents and Daughter Escape in Leap from Upstairs Window.

By The Associated Press.

AKRON, O., Feb. 12—Two children were trapped in a bed room and burned to death and the father, mother and another child are in an Akron hospital, as the result of a fire that consumed the home of Attorney Joseph F. Sourek, near the Braeburn golf course, early today.

The dead are Elizabeth May Sourek, 16, and Joseph Francis Sourek, 6.

Attorney Sourek, 45 is reported in serious condition from burns. Mrs. Grace Sourek, 44, his wife, and Rose Sourek, 14, are in fair condition.

Sourek his wife and Rose, leaped from the second floor and saved themselves from the same fate that overtook the two children.

Tells of Explosion

Gaining consciousness for a brief period at the hospital, Sourek said he had poured kerosene into the kitchen stove to start a fire. When he lighted it, the fluid exploded, enveloping him in a sheet of flames. He said he attempted to smother the blaze and then rushed, his clothing on fire, to warn his family in the bed room above. Then he lapsed again into unconsciousness.

Rose, who escaped with her father and mother, told of the leap from the bedroom window and of the frantic attempts to get the other two children to follow them.

Jump from Window

Sourek forced his wife and daughter Rose to jump through a second floor window which he kicked out. He then jumped after giving instructions to his daughter, Elizabeth, to drop Joseph down to him. After Elizabeth saw her father was knocked unconsciousness by the jump she attempted to leave the house by the stairway with her brother and was trapped.

Sourek, his daughter said, attempted to get back into the house when he recovered his senses but his efforts were to no avail.

SENATE COMMITTEE IN CANNON PROBE

Witnesses Testify Concerning Transfer of Anti-Smith Funds.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb 12 — After eliciting from witnesses that some of the funds deposited to the credit of the Virginia anti-Smith committee in 1928 were transferred to the personal account of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., the senate campaign funds committee today remained undecided whether further hearings would be held.

"The Nye group, which is investigating political activities of the Southern Methodist prohibition leader, yesterday questioned a number of bankers. It was acting upon complaints filed by Representative Tinkham, Republican of Massachusetts, that Cannon violated the corrupt practices act through failure to report expenditures of funds contributed to the campaign against the Democratic presidential nominee.

The bishop came to the hearing in a wheel chair, still crippled by arthritis from which he has been suffering for some time. At the outset a letter from him was read asking permission to file as soon as his health allowed, a sworn statement to prove no "criminal or dishonorable act" had been committed. The request was granted.

NATIONWIDE TRIBUTE VOICED FOR LINCOLN

Japanese Ambassador Joins Americans in Honoring Martyr on Anniversary.

By The Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 12 One hundred and twenty-two years ago today a boy was born in the backwoods of Kentucky. No particular importance was attached to his coming, but today, the anniversary of his birth, an entire nation paid tribute to the memory of the most famous backwoods rail splitter of them all.

In the schools, memorial halls, and other places throughout the length and breadth of the country, Americans talked again of "Honest Abe" and listened as other extolled the virtues of America's Civil war President.

Springfield, focal point for exercises honoring Abraham Lincoln's memory because he lies buried here, heard him described as a world figure who has "taught lessons which mankind, whether east or west, must take to heart."

Sees Need of Lincoln Ideals

The speaker was Katsuji Debuchi, the Japanese ambassador, who pleaded last night for a return to the ideals of Abraham Lincoln.

"The nations," said the ambassador, "are now becoming more and more interdependent. We can conceive of few problems, which, though apparently domestic and generally so called, do not produce direct or indirect effect upon all nations. In such a world-society no nation, however powerful, however self-sufficient, can be independent of other nations and indifferent to their weal or woe. Today Lincoln's idealism cries for rescue as it did when Lincoln saw in America a house divided against itself. In saying this I do not refer to any specific country—rather I

BLAMES RACE BETS AS CAUSE OF THEFT

Hillsboro, O., Bank Employe Charged with Embezzlement of $31,000.

By The Associated Press.

HILLSBORO, O., Feb. 12 — Charles H. Murphy, 26, assistant cashier of the Hillsboro state bank has confessed, according to state bank examiners, that he embezzled $31,000 of the bank's funds over a period of three years.

According to Bank Examiner H. L. Lakewood, Murphy confessed that his embezzlements started in 1928 when he won a bet on a long shot through a hand-book. The long shot he said paid him $1,200 for ten dollars.

Since that time, officers said he confessed, he has taken from $50 to $1,000 at intervals in an effort to beat the "ponies."

The shortage was discovered yesterday, and no announcement of the examiner's findings was made until last night. No charges have been filed against Murphy, who is at liberty without bond.

Murphy started as a messenger in the bank upon his graduation from high school eight years ago and confessed he had fallen victim to the lure of easy money after winning the long shot race. Since that time, Murphy admitted, he has played handbooks and took from $50 to $1,000 from the bank at different intervals to cover his losses.

Officers quoted Murphy as saying he removed enough loose leaf deposit sheets from his ledgers to cover the amounts of his embezzlements when he learned an examination was to be made.

SEEK TRAIL OF POTTER DEATH TRIGGER-MAN

Slayer of Former Cleveland Councilman Believed To Be Known.

DETECTIVE IN PITTSBURGH

Mysterious Murder Now Thought To Be Linked with Liquor Racket.

By The Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb 12—Suspected of being the trigger man in the slaying of former Councilman William E. Potter, a man known as "Hymie the Gunman" was sought in Pittsburgh today by Cleveland Detective Bernard Wolf.

Police said "Hymie the Gunman" is probably also the mysterious "M. J. Markus" who rented the apartment where Potter was killed, and who has since been in hiding.

Disclosure that Detective Wolf has been looking for the gunman in Pittsburgh since yesterday came shortly after police arrived at the conclusion that Potter was slain by a liquor racket gang who suspected him of "double crossing."

Previously the police had believed Potter was killed to seal his lips from further testimony in Cleveland's notorious playground purchase scandal.

Traced to Detroit

Earlier today, police learned that "Markus" was in Detroit a day or two before the murder, and suspected he might have been a member of one of the Detroit liquor gangs which frequently have "cooperated" with the Cleveland "East 105th street mob."

The presence of Markus in Detroit was revealed by a letter which Fred C. Lauh custodian of the apartment, wrote the Rev. Milan Hranilovich of Chicago, the apartment owner.

Calls from Detroit

Explaining that his account was $48 short, Lauh wrote that this was the amount owed him by "Markus," but that Markus had called him from Detroit saying he would come here the next day. The following evening Potter was shot to death. A man answering the description of "Markus" and a pretty blond were taken from the building that night by a taxi-cab driver and have vanished.

Detectives connected the Detroit telephone call with the visit the same day of two men who said they were from Detroit. They came to the city hall and waited for Potter several hours, but left a note and departed when he failed to appear.

Discarding the theory that Potter was slain because of what he might know concerning city land purchase frauds when he was in office two years ago, police believed the hired slayer or slayers were in some way connected with the "East One Hundred and Fifth street mob" which frequently has been found in alliances with Detroit gangs. Potter, officers believe, was the victim of some racketeer dispute.

Potter's widow declined to allow police to see her husband's private papers on the advice of her attorney.

STERILIZATION BILL ARGUED IN HEARING

Ohio House Awaits Call of Author for Further Action on Proposed Measure.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 12—The sterilization bill in the Ohio house of representatives today awaited the call of its author, P. H. Rogers, Republican, of Lorain county, for further hearings before the house benevolent and penal institutions committee, of which Rogers is chairman.

The merits and demerits of the bill as viewed by various persons of the state were aired at great length before the committee last night.

Dr. H. H. McClellan of Dayton, former superintendent of the Dayton state hospital for the insane, presented the opposition on the grounds that medical science had not yet determined the cause for feeble minded and epileptic cases, which would be affected by the measure.

H. A. Fleming, Youngstown social worker and attorney; H. E. Bon Durant of Columbus, representing the American Eugenics society, and C. C. Kirk, head of the Orient state farm, spoke for the measure.

The trio said it would provide a protection to society from an increase of the feeble minded and epileptics in the offspring of the defectives of the present day.

Some merchants are offering special bargains on 13 different pieces of merchandise, and one store offers to sell its wares with 13 cents as the down payment.

MAIL TRUCK HOLDUP YIELDS "JUNK" MONEY

Washington Bandits Get Only Mutilated Bills in Daring Attack on Postal Clerk.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb 12—A daring holdup of a mail truck carrying registered pouches in the union station here early this morning was announced by postal officials today as netting the robbers nothing but mutilated currency.

The sacks stolen, after a mail clerk had been beaten with a lead pipe contained only old bills, cut in half for shipment to the treasury department.

Treasury officials called the loot a "gold brick"—saying it was made up of only parts of bills which once had a value of $807,000.

Police and government operatives were at work in many portions of the capital and watching its exit skirts in an attempt to apprehend the holdup men.

The treasury department said the other halves of the mutilated bills had been received here in a previous shipment.

Staged at Early Hour

The robbery occurred between 2 and 3 a. m. in the union station concourse.

Peter Johnson, in charge of 28 sacks of registered mail being shipped from the federal reserve bank in New York to the treasury was the mail clerk bludgeoned by the robbers.

Johnson had just loaded his truck at the baggage cars of the Pennsylvania station train run from New York on the station's lower level, taken it to the upper floor by elevator and started across the entire distance of the concourse. He was between tracks 3 and 4, which are close to the

New Problem

(Will Rogers Special)

FOREST CITY, Ark., Feb. 12 —Along with the other things wanted down in this country, I found in Fort Smith, Ark., a rather unique case.

A little circus is stranded there. It's got an elephant and a lot of animals. The town is feeding the circus people but this elephant and these lions and tigers and all are about to eat the whole town of funds.

This elephant alone has eaten up their budget. They wanted them to sell 'em. They put 'em up and nobody would buy 'em.

Now, come on, you folks, and send some money to Fort Smith, Ark. Lots of folks can't seem to get excited over human hungry. Maybe they can over wild animals.

This elephant hasn't seen a peanut since last summer. There is no fund but we will create one. Send it to the mayor, and we will call it the "Stranded Circus Fund."

Yours,

Will Rogers

UNION OPPOSES PARK INCREASE

Central Labor Body Acts After City Is Offered Four-Acre Tract in Vernon Heights.

SENDS LETTER TO COUNCIL

President Maynard Names Committees of Organization for Coming Year.

Opposition to any plan of the city to take over additional land being offered for parks and playgrounds was voiced by the Marion Central Labor Union last night at its semi monthly meeting in Labor Hall at Church and Main streets.

The organization's objection was expressed in a letter sent to city council.

Says Funds Lacking

The union claimed that the city lacks funds to properly care for the parks already belonging to the city, and that additional parks would only increase expenses. The present parks are badly in need of attention, the letter pointed out. The union's action was taken as a result of an offer made Monday night to give the city a four acre tract in Vernon Heights.

An upward trend in employment here in the last two weeks was reported by the building trades. Carpenters and finishers are working five days a week on uptown store fixtures and new fronts being installed by merchants, it is reported.

Nine new delegates were seated at the meeting. The new members are from the local molders, letter carriers and machinists unions.

Plans were announced by the entertainment committee for a euchre party to be given at the hall Tuesday night, Feb 24. Proceeds of the party will be given to charity.

President Hayes Maynard announced his committees for the year at last night's meeting. They are as follows: constitution and laws, Clarence A. Bolin, chairman, Fred Eaton, vice chairman, Arthur J. Owens, David Foos, I. O. Lucas and J. D. Cantwell; organization V. V. Goff, chairman, Fred P. Hass, Charles Stoll, Jas. a Sons, L. B. Geer and H. F. Bilger.

MILLIONS HEAR PONTIFF'S VOICE FOR FIRST TIME

Message of "Peace and Union" Opens Powerful New Vatican Station.

GIVES 20-MINUTE TALK

Epochal Event Marks Pope's Ninth Anniversary as Church Head.

By The Associated Press.

VATICAN CITY, Feb 12—For the first time in history the pope today sent his voice to millions throughout the world in a radio message of peace to mankind.

Smiling and tranquil as though he were a veteran of radio broadcasting, he spoke over HVJ, the new Vatican city station built for him by Guglielmo Marconi and inaugurated in celebration of the ninth anniversary of his coronation as Pope Pius XI.

POPE PIUS XI

Senator Marconi, introducing the pontiff, spoke briefly before the address for which men and women were listening in far distant cities of the world.

"It is my great honor," he said, speaking into the microphone, "to announce that within a few moments his holiness Pius XI will inaugurate the radio station of the state of Vatican City."

An Epochal Event

"This is the first time in history that the living voice of the Pope will have been heard simultaneously in all parts of the globe." Turning to the Pope, his friend of long standing, he said: "Holy father, I consign to your holiness the work entrusted to me. Be pleased, I pray you, to let your voice be heard across the world."

It was 10:52 a. m. (Marion time) when the Pope began speaking.

No longer a prisoner of the Vatican, this most modern of all Popes sent his living voice to his congregation of 300 million Catholics and to the members of all other faiths. His was a message of peace and union.

Crisply and clearly the voice of the supreme pontiff of the Catholic church came over the air, marking an epochal occasion in the history of radio and of the Catholic church. The pope spoke in Latin, and despite an occasional slight interference his voice was plainly audible to radio listeners.

For 20 minutes before his voice was heard the new radio station of the vatican was on the air. Promptly at 10:30 came the fanfare of trumpets which signaled over seas and mountains the holy father's arrival at the station.

Listeners in Many Lands

While he inspected it, from the power room to the automatic sender, radio listeners stood by throughout the United States and in other far lands. In New York and elsewhere in more than one Catholic church parishioners listened and waited before receiving sets placed beside altars.

The only bar to good reception was an intermittent high-pitch whistle. Static was absent and there was no fading.

After the pope had spoken for about 10 minutes the whistle grew

HYDE TO REVEAL RELIEF PROGRAM

Answers Senate Request for Details of Plans for Handling Funds.

By The Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 12 — Secretary of Agriculture Hyde said today he would wire Vice President Curtis his plan for administering the $20,000,000 drouth relief fund.

The secretary, here to be the principal speaker at a Lincoln day dinner tonight, declined to intimate his position.

The senate had requested a statement from Secretary Hyde as to his interpretation of the drouth relief compromise bill and whether the proposed $20,000,000 fund could be expanded by farmer borrowers for purchase of feed and clothing.

It was predicted the secretary would interpret the compromise loan fund as in no sense a dole or charity, and that he would say once the funds are loaned to the farmers for "agricultural rehabilitation" the borrowers could use it to their best advantage, including the purchase of feed and clothing.

The senate request followed the third day of stormy debate over the compromise. The resolution calling upon Secretary Hyde for his views was proposed by Senator Borah of Idaho, a leader of the [illegible] independents who [illegible] agreement.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute.

C. & O. Detectives Hold 5 On Box Car Theft Charges

Marion and Fostoria Men Held in Connection with Burglary of Cigarets from Freight Train; Police Say Loot Disposed of Here.

Five persons are in Marion and Fostoria jail and C. & O. railroad detectives are in possession of the greater share of $1.9 worth of cigarets stolen from a box car at Fostoria last Thursday night, following activities of the detectives in both cities this week.

Three of the men, Fred Davis, Otis Simpson alias George Davis, and John C. Talbert, all colored, of Fostoria, are facing charges of burglary and grand larceny in a Fostoria mayor's court for alleged taking the cigarets from a car last Thursday.

One Is Marion Man

One of the three, Otis Simpson alias George Davis, is formerly of Marion, and is an escaped prisoner from Dayton workhouse on a sentence imposed by the local common pleas court. Simpson pleaded guilty here several weeks ago to a charge of receiving property stolen from the Kelley clothing store on West Center street.

Lillie Smith, colored, proprietress of a soft drink stand on Hocking street, is in city prison awaiting arragnment in municipal court on a charge of receiving stolen property. The detectives, after recovering the stolen goods from her stand yesterday afternoon charged she purchased the cigarets from the colored men last Saturday after an unsuccessful effort had been made to dispose of the loot in Fostoria.

Marion Men on Job

The fifth person involved is Jerome Frish of Fostoria, white, who is charged with driving the colored men and the loot to Marion where the cigarets were sold. Fred Davis told the detective Lillie Smith gave them $10 in part payment for the cigarets.

The burglary was investigated and cleared up by W. L. Price and I. A. Greshel, officers of the C. & O. railroad with headquarters in Marion.

Most of the characters in the affair were arrested yesterday. After Simpson, Davis, Talbert and Frisch bar been jailed in Fostoria, Davis was brought to Marion by the detectives to identify the loot and Lillie Smith. He was taken back to Fostoria yesterday afternoon after her stand had been searched and the loot recovered.

All of the loot with the exception of a few packages given to friends and used by the men was recovered. The cigarets were stolen in Fostoria while enroute from Chicago to Columbus. They are property of the Schulte Cigar Co.

BOYS' CHAMPIONSHIP OF EAST HALF STILL HANGS IN BALANCE

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK
Sports Editor, The Star

JUST when the ultimate winners of the Marion county cage races were apparently fairly definitely known, Kirkpatrick High school boys have opened up with a desperate late-season attack that threatens to hold the title race in the East half of the county circuit wide open until the closing contest of the year. The champions of the western boys' division and the two girls' divisions are fairly well settled although there still remains a possibility of a few upsets.

Until last Friday Waldo and Martel had been doped as almost sure to fight it out for the title in the Eastern half of the boys' division. The two had been wading through nearly all of the opposition in good style and were putting on a grand race for the leadership.

Kirkpatrick then put on the first act of its upsetting act by handing Caledonia a beating. Then, just to show everybody it was no flash in the pan the Furniss-coached outfit set Waldo down with a 22 to 20 beating.

Anything May Happen

The race for honors promises to remain just as complicated after the Friday night games of this week. Kirkpatrick has a game booked with Claridon and Martel will resume its grudge with Waldo. Kirkpatrick, on the basis of its last two performances is favored to defeat the rather erratic Claridon boys.

Martel defeated Waldo last Friday on the Waldo court but had a hard time doing it, and for this reason the Prashun team can be figured as no better than an even bet against the proteges of Copeland when the latter are playing on the home court. Should Waldo and Kirkpatrick emerge winners Friday the race will remain quite complicated but if Martel hands the opponents a beating the quest for honors will narrow down to a fight between Martel and Kirkpatrick.

The Martel girls will make another effort to break into the win column this week at the expense of Waldo's lassies but hardly figure to accomplish the feat. Waldo beat them on the Martel floor last week and should make it two in a row this Friday. However, the advantage is not very great for Waldo.

The Kirkpatrick girls will be doing something entirely unexpected if they take the measure of the fast stepping Claridon femmes. The latter is leading the circuit and has a smooth outfit.

In the Western half of the league Morral will continue its efforts to go through an undefeated season. Prospect will provide the piece de resistance but Morral should go through to another win. Morral's girls also should find no particular difficulty in defeating the Prospect representatives.

Green Camp and LaRue will get together for the second consecutive week in a pair of games that means nothing as far as championship honors are concerned. Both teams have been consistent losers all season although Green Camp must be given an edge over the LaRue teams.

SPORTS

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK

THE following is a letter from C. B. R. McCoy, 1930 manager of the Lee Street Presbyterian baseball team. McCoy advocates a shift in one of the rules of the Sunday school baseball. His letter explains itself.

Bob Kirkpatrick
Sports Editor,
The Marion Star.

Dear Kirkpatrick:

With the 1931 baseball season near at hand, a suggestion which I believe might serve to increase interest in the Sunday school league has come to my mind. I would like to have it published in your "Sports" column in order to gain some idea of what the rest of the fans think of it.

In my opinion there were three teams in the Sunday school No. 2 league last season that are easily capable of competing in No. 1 circuit. They are Lee Street, Forest Lawn and Wesley M. E. Lee Street will not enter into this inasmuch as it has been elevated into the higher league by winning the pennant last year.

On the other hand there are two or three teams in No. 1 league which would probably be competing on more or nearer their own level in No. 2 league. Why not make provision for the final three teams of No. 1 league to be dropped into No. 2 circuit and the top three in No. 2 moved up into No. 1 instead of just the first and last interchanging places as is now the case.

It is just a suggestion but it appears to me better than the system now in use.

Yours in sports
(Signed) C. B. R. McCoy,
Former Manager, Lee St. Presbyterians

• • •

Without a doubt the suggestion of McCoy's has merit. However, I believe it is rather doubtful if the city commission could be convinced that it is good enough for adoption. For one thing it seems quite probable it would cause too much shifting from one league to another and back again for past performances seem to have fairly well demonstrated that No. 1 league is quite some faster than No. 2 league, despite the apparent strength of the leading No. 2 circuit teams.

• • •

For further discussion on the subject I suggest interested individuals get in touch with the managers of the Epworth Juniors, Central Christian and the Lutheran teams. I have a hunch these three will see nothing particularly good in the idea, inasmuch as they all finished at the bottom or close to it last season.

Hockey League Plans To Add New Entrants

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12 — Further eastward expansion, with the view of ultimately building up a 10 club circuit, is panned by the American hockey league.

Buffalo is the only eastern member of the league, but officials in meeting yesterday, decided to again try for a New York City entrant. The circuit also has under consideration planting a franchise in Toronto but there is considerable sentiment in favor of keeping the organization an all-American affair.

Every club in the league has had a satisfactory financial season with the exception of Minneapolis. The Millers failed to draw at home and it is likely they will operate as a road outfit for the rest of the season

BASEBALL HUMORIST DIES OF PARALYSIS

Charles Dryden, Well-Known Writer, Succumbs in Mississippi Home.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12—Charles Dryden, first and perhaps the greatest of all baseball humorists, is dead.

The man who originated nearly all the expressions used in writing baseball today, passed on yesterday in his modest little cottage in Ocean Springs, Miss., after being a hopeless paralytic for 10 years. He was about 71 years old.

Dryden, who worked on Chicago and New York papers until about 15 years ago, became famous for the unique manner in which he reported baseball games. He always built his stories around an incident which struck him as humorous. He was nationally recognized as one who could pick a nickname for a baseball player and make it stick.

College Teams Fear Power of Friday the 13th

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 12—Maybe it's just an eccentricity and maybe it just happened but it is quite probable that Ohio college and university basketball coaches consulted their calendars last year when they prepared their 1931 schedules.

Heretofore Friday nights have been fairly busy evenings in college cage circles. Not so tomorrow night—Friday the thirteenth.

Of the 42 collegiate basketball teams in the state only six will see action tomorrow night, three games being on the schedule.

Last Friday night there were 14 games in Ohio and next Friday night, February, 20, 12 games are on the books. This week— a mere five.

Mt. Union is one of those willing to defy the jinx. The Mounts take on Ashland and may learn that there is something to this bad luck superstition. At Toledo, it may be the opposite. Toledo has not won a conference game this season and it meets Bluffton Friday night.

MOORES POPULAR ON BIG LEAGUE TEAMS

Seven Players of Same Name To Play in Major Baseball Circuits.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12—The more Moores able to stick with major league baseball clubs next season, the more moaning by baseball writers.

Seven Moores are under contract. And that's not the worst of it—three of them are James Moore. They are pitcher James Stanford Moore of the Chicago White Sox; outfielder James William Moore of the Athletics, and outfielder James Gregg Moore of the New York Giants.

More Moores are: Pitcher Wilcey William Moore, Boston Red Sox; pitcher William Austin Moore, Brooklyn; outfielder Randolph Moore, Boston Braves, and outfielder John Moore of the Cubs.

If the White Sox had hung on to their Moores, they would have James Williams, and Randolph, in addition to James Stanford, the two former having worked for Charles Comiskey at one time or another.

The Moores themselves have become apprehensive at the possibility of confusion in the official averages—so it doesn't look as though any more Moores will make it more merrier.

BANASKI WINS

Midwest Middleweight Wrestling Champ Pins Campbell.

Joe Banaski, lightheavyweight wrestling champion of the midwest successfully defended his title last night in Columbus against Joe Campbell, the sensational 175 pounder from Buffalo. Campbell appeared here in a wrestling match last Monday night and scored a decided hit with local fans.

Banaski is expected to again defend his crown in Marion on Monday, Feb. 23. His opponent has not been named.

Canadian Appears on Way to New Title

By The Associated Press.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Feb. 12—Ross Robinson of Toronto, holder of the Canadian national title, appeared well on his way toward victory in the North American amateur speed skating championship today as the competitors moved on from Saranac lake to Lake Placid for the last two days of competition.

Winning the five-mile race in 14:31 2-5, close to second time, Robinson increased his total to 50 points for two days of skating. Ray Murray of New York, who did not place in yesterday's only senior championship event, was second with 40. O'Neil Farrell of Chicago, finished third in the five-mile to get third place in the totals with 30 points.

BEARCATS LOSE GROUND

By International News Service

GRANVILLE, O., Feb. 12—Cincinnati's Bearcats dropped back into third place in the Buckeye conference basketball standings today after falling before the vicious attack of Denison here last night by a score of 42 to 24. Denison jumped into an early lead and held it throughout the game, leading at the half, 24 to 11. The Big Red quintet was master of the situation at all times and the outcome was never in doubt.

SHOVEL Y-INDUS IN EASY VICTORY OVER HEIDELBERG QUINTET

College Reserves Bow to Fast Moving Y Champs on Shovel Gym Court.

DELIVERING a snappy brand of basketball during most of the game the Shovel Y-Indus cage club smothered the Heidelberg College Reserves under a flood of points last night on the Shovel floor to beat the Student Princes 27 to 19. The victory is the fourth in a row for the Marion five and runs the season's total of the club to 19. The Heidelberg outfit never had much of an opportunity to score points as the Y-Indus defense constantly broke up plays before they had reached mid-court.

Opening the game with its usual fast breaking offense the Marion quintet immediately jumped into the lead over the opposition and never relinquished the advantage. The winner held a 20 to 6 margin at the half way point.

Captain Bud Cram inserted three of his second string men into the lineup in the second half but even with the first stringers on the bench Heidelberg failed to gain at a very rapid pace.

About the middle of the second half Cram, Gillis and Lockwood again reentered the fray and the Heidelberg boys were immediatly put back on the defensive.

Walter Lockwood, Y-Indus center was sent to the showers late in the final period with four personals chalked up against him Fouls were numerous, both teams being about equal in the total number of offenses.

The lineups and summary:

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

"OFFICE ROMANCES" INCREASE

MARRIAGE OF SECRETARY TO BOSS USUALLY ENDS HAPPILY.

By International News Service.

NEW YORK—When Dr. Edward Lyman Cornell issued his now famous exhortation, 'Marry your secretary" to the student body of Northwestern university, he imagined, as did most of the listeners, that he was expounding a new idea. He wasn't.

Marriages between secretaries and their bosses have been taking place for a long, long time and—there's this to say for Dr. Cornell's theory—they turn out in most cases eminently successful.

For instance, Miss Ada Schmidt landed here from Denmark a short five years ago. For three years she worked as secretary and companion to the aged mother of Governor Morgan F. Larson, of New Jersey. Then, to the surprise of his family and friends, Governor Larson and Miss Schmidt went and got married. And happily married at that.

• • •

OLD "FIGHTING BOB" LA FOLLETTE was another luminary in the political sky who married the lady whose duty it was to record his words in black and white. After their marriage they continued to run the household and office together and everything worked out splendidly. Senator "Fighting Bob's" son, Bob Jr., who took hold of the reins on his father's death, also married his secretary. But his was no office romance. Young Bob met his bride, Miss Rachel Wilson, while she was still attending high school and when he took over his father's business he made her his secretary. However, the announcement of his marriage came as a complete surprise to his friends.

• • •

STILL another political light, Congressman La Guardia, married the girl who helped him run his office and aided him in his political campaigns. Now happily married, she still helps him in business and politics.

Others on the list include C. W. Post, who founded the Postum Company, E. M. Statler, the late millionaire hotel owner, married his secretary. She continued to be his chief assistant while he lived. After his death she was appointed manager of the enormous string of Statler hotels.

Bishop James Cannon, Jr. of the Methodist Episcopal church married his secretary last year in London, England.

OF course one must not assume from the foregoing instances that the paths of secretarial romance as we'll call it is always bestrewn with primroses. Very often it proves to be a rugged thorny one. A notable example of the latter was the case of Mrs. Lillian Attwater Heckscher. Heckscher's first wife, who had won her divorce from him only three weeks before he married his secretary, brought suit for $250,000 for alienation of affections against her successor. There were few primroses on that path.

There are many angles to be considered in this secretary boss marriage idea which Dr. Cornell has failed to take into account. Chief among them is the problem of recreation and relaxation from business thoughts and worries.

When a man marries his secretary and she continues to help him in his business, there ceases to be any such thing as "after office" hours. The couple are in each others company constantly 24 hours a day and all of the time both are burdened with mutual business worries.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meat, Grain, Livestock

Little relief for poultry raisers is in sight for abnormally low egg prices which have prevailed for more than two months. Selling at the lowest February prices in many years, eggs are now retailing at 20 to 24 cents a dozen. In temporary market depressions, some grocers have been selling eggs below the 20 cents line.

As a result farmers are getting from 12 to 15 cents a dozen for their eggs.

Butter prices also have been below normal levels for weeks. The present price range is 31 to 34 cents a pound.

BUILDS UP HERD AT GOVERNOR'S EXPENSE

Cowboy Admits Changing Brands in Fashion of Former Rustler Gangs.

By International News Service

DENVER—The ancient art of "working" brands has not entirely disappeared from the cattle ranges of Colorado.

A revival of the practice by which small herds of cattle were made to increase at the expense of the neighbors' herds was brought to light recently when Gov. William H. Adams learned that a cowboy on the extensive Adams ranch near Alamosa, Colo., had altered the brands on several head of the governor's cattle.

The cowboy was arrested and confessed to officials that his ambition to become owner of a herd of cattle himself had led him to take up the practice once followed by rustlers on the western ranges.

Governor Adams brands his cattle with an "O" and a "reverse L." The cowboy registered a brand "OB." Occasionally careless in putting the governor's brand on calves, the cowboy put "O reverse B" on several head. This was done by simply adding two half circles to the governor's brand.

Elmer Ray, a special inspector for the state livestock commission, discovered the "mistake" the cowboy had made in his branding and investigated. Aided by William Carson, foreman on Adams' ranch and a grandson of Kit Carson, famous pioneer scout, Ray found that the cowboy had been building up his small herd at the expense of the governor's.

Columbia Needs More Room for Monkeys

NEW YORK — Columbia University's 20 monkeys, residents of the tall Medical Center Building here, have created a delicate and growing problem for the university officials.

Locked in a double doored monkey proof room, with plenty of light, air, heat and running water, the Simians need more space. Bananas there are enow for the little primates. But "the greatest need," declares the report of Dean Darrach, which tells of the work of Drs. Earle T. Engle and Phillip E. Smith, who are studying pituitary secretions "consists of space for housing monkeys."

The Simians are the subjects of much experiment, the report shows, from diagnosis of brain tumor by eye symptoms, to a study of "the mode of death of the human heart."

There is nothing more uncertain than a sure thing.

N. Y. Students Publish Magazine in Shorthand

By International News Service.

NEW YORK—Students in stenography in the Abraham Lincoln High school here have started a magazine printed all in shorthand characters.

An editorial, an article by the principal of the school, club gossip, and two short stories for the 300 club members who form the magazine's circulation were in the first issue of the Short-O-Gram. To the uninitiated they were just pot hooks and meaningless symbols.

BOWMAN BELIEVES IN SCOUT IDEALS

Superintendent of Schools George A. Bowman today gave his indorsement of the Boy Scout movement as local Scouts observed the twenty-first anniversary of the organization's birth in America.

"The objectives of the Scouts are so nearly identical with those of public education that there is the closest cooperation between the two. The habits of health and character which the boy acquires through his experience in scouting are the aim of all worth while home and school training. The good Scout is almost without exception among the best citizens of his school group. Often a boy's desire to learn is awakened and inspired by the Scout teachings of self-reliance, alertness and courage."

GEORGE A. BOWMAN,
Superintendent of Schools.

INDIGESTION STOPPED

Relief in 5 Minutes

Practically all forms of indigestion from mildest stomach discomfort to chronic dyspepsia are caused by excess stomach acid which sets up premature food fermentation, generates gas and attacks the delicate stomach lining. These distressing conditions are best and most quickly and safely relieved by taking just a little "Bisurated" Magnesia after meals or whenever pain or discomfort is felt. This instantly neutralizes excess acid and stops fermentation. Foods made sweet and digestible, the sore inflamed stomach lining is soothed and strengthened, and normal digestion proceeds without hindrance or pain. Henney & Cooper and reliable druggists everywhere supply genuine "Bisurated" Magnesia, either in powder or handy tablet form. Taken as directed, it will bring almost instant relief from acid caused stomach troubles.—Adv.

GOITRE NOT A DISEASE

Milwaukee Doctor Makes Remarkable Discovery

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — It has been brought to light by scientific research that goitre is not a disease and is not to be treated as such. Dr. A. A. Rock, Dept. A-3, Box 737, Milwaukee, Wis., a prominent goitre specialist for over 24 years, has perfected a different method of treatment for his patients that has proved remarkably successful. This same method is now being used for a home treatment of goitre cases all over the country with astonishing results. The Doctor states that goitre is a condition which grows worse with neglect and recommends immediate attention no matter how small the growth may appear. He strongly opposes needless operations. Dr. Rock is the author of a book that tells in a simple way about treating goitre at home. He has published this book at his own expense and will send a copy free to anyone interested. Write him today.—Adv.

FRATERNAL PROTECTION
WITH A 48-YEAR RECORD OF SUCCESS

In a little Iowa town, Modern Woodmen of America was organized in 1883. Its purpose was to broaden the social opportunities of farm, town and city, to promote fraternal activities in various communities and to provide life insurance protection for its members. • So successfully has it done these things that Modern Woodmen of America now has more than thirteen thousand local camps in forty-six states and four Canadian provinces, has become the largest fraternal beneficiary society in the World, and has more than a billion dollars of life insurance protection in force.

• FOR THE FAMILY — Protection for every member of your family is provided by Modern Woodmen of America at the lowest cost consistent with safety. On equal terms, this organization insures men and women, from sixteen to sixty, for amounts ranging from $500 to $10,000, and in such a variety of certificate forms that you can select one to fit the average need. There is even a Junior Insurance Department for children under sixteen. For the benefit of members who become afflicted with tuberculosis a free sanatorium is maintained in Colorado.

• SAFE AND SOUND — Modern Woodmen of America is 100% actuarially solvent. Its claims are paid, ($455,000,000 to date) and will continue to be paid promptly and in full. Its modernized plan of insurance is safe, sound and meets all requirements. To be insured in Modern Woodmen of America is to enjoy unusual benefits in addition to the safety of its insurance guaranteed by the required reserves.

• GET MORE DETAILS — One or more of the thirteen thousand Modern Woodmen Camps must be in your neighborhood. For more information as to benefits of membership and how you can protect your dependents, see the local camp clerk or deputy, or write to the Head Offices. Decide today to do this.

Twice the Help!

Many things people take for constipation do only half as much for them as Cascarets would do. For Cascarets are made from cascara, which any doctor will tell you acts not only on the lower bowel but the upper one as well. And it actually strengthens the muscles of the bowels. So the quick, pleasant relief Cascarets bring when you're bilious, dizzy, headachy and constipated, is lasting relief! Take a candy Cascaret tonight and see how that coated tongue clears up; how your breath is sweetened; eyes are brightened and your entire system is strengthened. 20 million boxes used yearly is proof of their popularity!

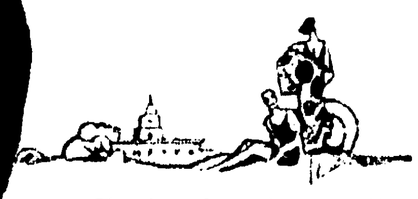
SUNSHINE MELLOWS Heat Purifies

LUCKIES are always kind to your throat



The advice of your physicians is: Keep out of doors, in the open air, breathe deeply; take plenty of exercise in the mellow sunshine, and have a periodic check-up on the health of your body.

Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why the "TOASTING" process includes the use of the Ultra Violet Rays. LUCKY STRIKE—made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED"—an extra, secret heating process. Harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos are expelled by "TOASTING." These irritants are sold to others. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.

Relief Agencies Serving Ohio District Efficiently

Provide Food and Clothing for Thousands in Drouth Area, but Find Task Increasing as New Calls for Help Come in.

Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of articles on conditions and relief plans generally and locally in Ohio's drouth area.

• • •

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 12 — The grim picture of Ohio's arid eastern counties, doubly cursed by the drouth and unemployment, has a single, re-assuring factor officials of the state and Red Cross.

They are confident that no man, woman or child to whom their attention has been called is suffering for lack of food or clothing

Demand Increases

They are conscious of a growing demand for relief. Two more counties, Pickaway and Fayette, have been added to the region in which the state relief committee is operating bringing the total to 27 all in the southeastern part of the state.

The drouth area actually includes 60 of Ohio's 88 counties, for that number took advantage of the reduced freight rates which enabled farmers to ship in feed for livestock which their own wilting farms failed to produce last summer.

But in 27 of the counties, including the two added Wednesday, the destitution of unemployed and the empty pantries and fodder bins of the farmers brought about such a demand upon local agencies for food and clothing that their funds became exhausted. Here the national treasury of the Red Cross stepped in. And it was here that the state got into action. The National Red Cross is supplying help in six other counties where its local chapters and other agencies could not meet the demand, for their situation is not serious enough for inclusion in the state relief act.

At least 75,000 persons in the drouth area are being fed and clothed, according to the crudest compilations, which overlook most of the local work. The various counties average nearly 500 families receiving relief and there are five members to the average family. Meigs county is about the highest with 850 families.

Meigs is a part of a tiny sector embracing a forlorn mining community. It is in a slump with Hocking, Athens and Perry.

Sums are being doled out to the Meigs county families ranging from $2 to $6 a week. The thrifty farmers are in fair condition but the small and tenant farmers are suffering with the farm laborer and the miner.

In Hocking county the city of Logan alone has 200 families on the lists of the relief agencies.

McArthur, the seat of Vinton county, has a flowing well which is supplying the village with water and others for a great distance around. Vinton is the only county in the state which has no publicly owned or operated water supply.

The Stars Say—

Friday, February 13

THE astral testimonies for progressive and prosperous conditions are uppermost in this day's planetary chart. There is every promise of growth, expansion and gratifying financial returns in business, especially in new undertakings and plans and the auguries for personal happiness, preferment and prosperity are definite. It is a time for pushing vigorously toward high goals in position and prestige, although these may entail some abrupt upheavals or unforeseen readjustments. The purely personal relations may also be unusually gratifying and happy.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of splendid progress and prosperity, with business as well as personal affiliations bringing much satisfaction. Finances should increase, business expand and personal preferment and prestige spell honors and fulfilled ambitions. It is a time for pushing to such goals.

A child born on this day may have excellent abilities and attributes for attaining success and high position in life, with distinction, prestige and high personal standing in social as well as business associations.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

President Hoover has asked congress for an appropriation of $500,000 to add 245 men to the force engaged in deportation work. New York City has exceeded its $1,500,000 quota in the Red Cross drought relief drive and is going after a quarter of a million more to assist in meeting the country-wide call for $10,000,000, which has had a response totaling about seven and a quarter millions. New York City is often the target for criticism, but no charge can stand that it lacks a warm heart.

Putting Up the Bars.

The house ways and means committee has approved a bill to exclude forced labor products from all countries. The committee's action was on the Kendall bill, designed to make effective April 1 the provisions of the tariff law relating to such projects, the provisions of which relating to forced labor products will not, in the absence of further legislation, go into effect until next January.

The bill is comprehensive. It will, if enacted into law, exclude products transported, handled, or loaded, as well as those produced by forced, indentured or convict labor and define forced labor as "all work or service which is exacted from any person under the menace of any penalty for its nonperformance and for which the worker does not offer himself voluntarily."

The action of the committee followed closely the treasury orders issued to customs collectors by Commissioner F. B. A. Eble, after the receipt by the treasury department of affidavits bearing on the use of convicts in Russian lumber camps, to bar convict lumber and pulpwood from northern Russia, placing the onus of proving that such products from northern Russia are not those of convicts squarely upon the importers.

The action by the treasury department is the first taken toward barring Russian goods since last summer when shipments of lumber and pulpwood from that land were temporarily barred. That the legality of the action may be questioned in the courts by the importers is expected by treasury officials, and it may have been this official anticipation which hastened house committee action on the Kendall bill, the provisions of which are not directed at Russian forced labor products alone, but apply to forced labor products from all countries and thus is adapted to meet attacks by the importers in the courts.

Thus it may be seen that the United States is lining up with the action taken, or planned at once to be taken, by other countries into which Russian forced labor products are being dumped. The indications accumulate that Russia will not much longer be permitted to ship its convict products into the ports of the world to undersell those of free labor.

"With a Provision."

Should it contain a proviso to which we shall refer further on, much might be said for such a law as that for which state and county highway officials all over Ohio are at present agitating—a law to take automobiles and other highway motor vehicles from the personal property tax list and make them bear their fair share of the cost of government by materially increasing license fees on them.

It is a well-recognized fact that hundreds of thousands of highway motor vehicles are practically, if not wholly, escaping taxation by being returned at values so low as to make the taxes negligible, and that thousands upon thousands are not returned for taxation at all. This evasion of taxation would be obviated should a law along the lines proposed be enacted, for the driver of a car or truck not properly supplied with license plates would speedily be apprehended. No one making use of such vehicles could escape the operation of the law.

But there is another phase of the matter which should be given consideration. To what fund is the excess revenue derived from increased license fees over and above that derived from the present license fees to go? If it is to go as the present revenue derived from the taxes on highway motor vehicles goes, well and good. But if this excess is to be devoted to highway purposes, we have an entirely different proposition. As it is, enough, if not far too much, of the tax-payers' money is expended for highway purposes. It will be difficult to find any one other than a highway official or employe, a highway implement manufacturer or salesman, or a highway material man, who will hold to the contrary. To take the revenue derived from taxes on automobiles and trucks from use for the purposes to which they are now devoted and apply not only it, but also the excess of the new license fees over the present, to highway purposes, would be unthinkable.

No matter what the form of the proposed law, it must be recognized that many changes are suffered by bills between the time they go into the legislative hopper and the time they leave the general assembly for the governor's signature. Therefore care should be exercised that any bill passed by the assembly contains a provision—the proviso to which we promised to refer—that all revenue resulting from license fees collected under the new law over and above that derived through the present license fees should be allocated to the general tax fund. With a provision such as this, the proposed law is worthy of general commendation.

Lincoln's Place Fixed.

In many foreign lands, as well as here in our own country, recognition is given February 12 as marking an anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln. So it has been for more than three score years in the past, and so it will be for scores upon scores of years to come.

Like all men of great soul who attained eminence in public life, Lincoln has been made the subject of almost endless praise and tribute, and like all men of great soul who attained preeminence, he had his detractors in his lifetime, and dead almost three score and ten years, he is still the target of occasional assault.

Tributes to the savior of the union need no encouragement. They come from every side as free-will offerings, gladly bestowed. Against assaults his memory needs no defense. His place in the consciousness of the American people is firmly fixed and impregnable to attack.

Memorials and monuments to Lincoln are almost countless. There is not a civilized land, not a state in the union, possibly not an American city of any consequence, without some memorial, some monument, some statue or other physical evidence, that he is held in memory. His fame endures in the minds and hearts of those who have come after him, while those who assailed him in the past are forgotten, while the curtain of oblivion awaits those who assail him today or may assail him in the years to come.

The French ministry has unanimously voted to indorse French participation to the extent of $8,000,000 in the proposed $30,000,000 loan to Germany. And it was but a little over twelve years ago that the representatives of the Allies and the Central powers met in the forest of Compiegne to arrange for the armistice!

When the terrier of Tony Chesty, of Smithfield, this state, tugged at his night shirt, Tony thought the dog merely wanted to play and pushed it away, but when the dog bit his wrist, he became sufficiently awake to realize that his home was ablaze and made his escape from the burning building. Another story for dog lovers.

Representatives in congress from states which would lose representation in the event that the reapportionment based on the returns from the 1930 census goes into effect are urging an increase in the membership of the house. Naturally the representatives of states which would lose members look upon the possibility with all the complacency with which they would contemplate the amputation of a leg.

Among the cheering announcements of the week is that from the public health service in Washington to the effect that reports from twenty-one states show that the influenza epidemic has passed its peak and is rapidly declining.

It develops that the world famous romantic figure known as "Lawrence of Arabia," concerning whose whereabouts inquiry was made in the British house of commons within the last two or three weeks, has been for some months in Plymouth, England, and performed a heroic part in rescuing the fliers who were not killed when a giant British plane crashed there last week, killing nine of its crew. That man, despite every endeavor on his part to escape publicity, seems to be ever on the spot when and where his services are needed.

UPHOLDING THE HAND OF THE PRESIDENT.

Editorial Opinion.

SENATE ORDERS A TEST CASE.

Much depends upon the final decision of the courts on the question whether the federal senate was within its constitutional rights in voting recently to withdraw its confirmation of the nomination of George Otis Smith to the chairmanship of the federal power commission. Attorney General Mitchell has advised President Hoover that the senate lacks authority to undo its own work after confirming a nominee and notifying the chief executive of that action. The senate majority declines to accept the view of the attorney general. So it has passed a resolution directing the district attorney to institute quo warranto proceedings against Smith and appropriating $2,500 for special counsel to prosecute the suit.

Manifestly the test case thus ordered by the senate is extremely important. For the courts are to determine whether the senate, by rules of its own making, can place serious limitations upon the power of the chief executive over federal officials appointed by him and duly confirmed as the constitution requires. The advice and consent of the senate having been asked and given formally in the case of an appointee and notification of the senate's action having been sent to the president, nothing short of impeachment proceedings apparently would give the senators further jurisdiction in the matter.

The senate, under the prompting of Senator Walsh, of Montana, persists in submitting the issue to the courts. One reasonably may think that it expects its case to fail, but that it desires to retreat as gracefully as the situation permits from an untenable position. It has reaffirmed its favorable action on the two other members of the power commission whose appointments it reconsidered, but Chairman Smith now is charged with undue partiality for Maine power interests. This is in addition to the senate's original condemnation of his active part in the commission's hasty dismissal of two experienced employes.—Chicago News.

Wants Europe's War Debt to Us Cancelled.

Editor Star—At the meeting of the Taxpayers' Association of Marion County held in the Y. M. C. A. building, January 29, 1931, one of the speakers said that if the taxes upon land were reduced to fifty cents an acre, such a reduction of taxes would not help most of the farmers. What he undoubtedly meant was that tax reduction will not completely solve the farm relief problem. There must be something more.

Students of banking and finance know that if the amount of money in a nation is increased, the price of commodities will be also increased. During the World war the people of the United States sold to the Allies an enormous quantity of food supplies, ammunition and nearly everything else that could be used to prosecute the war. During this time the people of the United States bought of the Allies much less than they sold to them. Trade balances are always paid with gold. As a result of the World war, the amount of gold in the United States was enormously increased. According to what was just stated, the price of commodities in the United States would have to be higher since the World war than they were before.

It is also equally as well known that the price of agricultural products in the United States is largely determined by the price of agricultural products in Europe. We produce more agricultural products than we can consume and the price paid for the surplus which is exported mostly to Europe determines the price of what is sold here. The World war hit the American farmer both ways. It increased the price of everything which he must buy without increasing the price of agricultural products. His purchasing power was greatly reduced on account of the World war.

But this is not all. During the World war the United States loaned to the Allies about $10,000,000,000. If these loans are not cancelled by the United States, or if the Allies are required to pay a substantial part of their loans, it will mean that the amount of gold in the United States will be further increased, but at the same time the amount of gold in the Allied nations will be correspondingly reduced. The purchasing power of gold in Europe will rise as the payments upon their loans are made but at the same time the purchasing power of gold in the United States will be correspondingly reduced. As a result of these changes in the purchasing power of gold in the United States and Europe, the tariff will have to be revised upward from time to time in order to maintain its effectiveness. As a proof of this fact can be cited the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill which was enacted in 1922 and was superseded by the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill of 1930, which was an upward revision of the tariff. Since the time of the payment of these loans is extended over a period for sixty-two years, it will mean that for the next fifty years the purchasing power of the farmer will be constantly falling. If you wanted to reduce the American farmer to the status of the European peasant, it would be absolutely impossible to find anything better for that purpose than the financial policy of the Hoover administration towards the Allied debtor nations of Europe.

Nations rise; then they decline and fall. The United States has entered upon the second stage of its existence. George Trish,

Scrub the Face.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Not long ago I talked with the owner of a "beauty parlor." She is an unusually intelligent person and I was much impressed by her common sense views regarding the skin.

I want my readers to have the benefit of what this good woman told me. If all or some of these suggestions are followed, they can not be otherwise than helpful to the sufferer from a bad skin.

I had spoken of the remarkable output of one American soapmaker. This firm produced and sold last year 96,000 tons of soap. That is an amazing thing—192,000,000 pounds of toilet soap, perhaps a billion bars!

"Oh! I am so glad to hear that," said the lady. "Too little soap and water are used by the people. Cleanliness, the cleanliness that comes from scrubbing the skin with soap, water and a rough wash rag, are essential to a good complexion."

Then we talked about the skin eruptions, particularly the acne and blackheads so many boys and girls have. "If only these children would scrub their faces and then leave on the surface to dry in a lot of the lather of common, yellow laundry soap," she said, "they are on the way to a speedy recovery of normal skin.

"After the soap has dried, yellow vaseline should be applied, right on top of the dried soap. This is left on all night and scrubbed off by vigorous washing in the morning." That, the lady said, will soon end the acne.

Then we talked about "alopecia," that peculiar form of localized baldness from which some persons suffer. There is just a patch of scalp disease that causes a loss of hair from a spot the size of a silver dollar, or larger. The doctors call it "alopecia areata."

"If this area is soaked night and morning with a two per cent. formaldehyde solution, dried, painted with iodine and then smeared with yellow vaseline twice a day, the trouble will disappear in two weeks." Thus said the lady.

Certainly, these remedies are simple enough and absolutely harmless. They are worth trying. The thorough cleansing, if nothing else helps, will go far toward a cure.

If you try these sensible measures and are greatly benefited, I wish you would write me about it. If we can help even a few of the people who have been embarrassed by marred skin, it will add to the sum total of human happiness.

Needless to say, your good friend, the family doctor, must not be overlooked. He will advise you about the diet and any internal medication you may need. I am sure, he will not disapprove local measures so plainly sensible as are here outlined.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

FATHER. Q—What can be done for hot, perspiring feet; also blisters on the toes? My shoes seem comfortable, although I am on my feet a good part of the day.

A—These are more or less common ailments. Changing the shoes and socks as frequently as possible will bring about increased comfort. Foot baths should prove soothing under the circumstances.

• • •

DORIS. Q—What are among the first symptoms of chickenpox, and is there any way in which small children may be made immune?

A—The presence of small red blisters on the skin is the outstanding symptom at the onset of the attack. No. In most instances the disease is apt to be slight and of short duration.

• • •

ANXIOUS. Q—Can you tell me something about exophthalmic goitre?

2—What is the cause of my hair falling out in small patches all over my head?

3—What is a carbuncle?

4 Can you advise treatment for boils and carbuncles?

A—Yes. For particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope, and repeat your question.

2—It is possible that you may be troubled with alopecia areata. Special treatment is advised.

3—A carbuncle is like a group of boils. Instead of discharging its contents through one opening, as a boil does, it has several, perhaps many openings.

4—The bowels should be kept open, good food should be provided, and pastry shunned. For further information send a self-addressed, stamped envelope, and repeat your question.—Copyright, 1931, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Euclid, King of Systematizers.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

Down to the present time, the two most famous names in the history of mathematical science are Euclid and Newton. It is not known to what extent Euclid made contribution of an original nature to the body of geometrical knowledge of his day. It is not, however, believed to have been considerable. Euclid's great contribution was in the classification, organization and systematization of mathematical knowledge, chiefly all that was known of geometry. So admirable and orderly was Euclid's work in this respect that, until comparatively recent years, it has survived almost unaltered in the curriculum of English instruction. Geometry and Euclid were synonymous. When people meant geometry, they said Euclid. It is probably true that no other work in the history of science ever exercised such a powerful and beneficial effect upon the human mind for such a great length of time.

Although Euclid's "Elements," or "Stoicheia" in Greek, is one of the landmarks in the history of science and Euclid himself one of the immortals, singularly little is known about him, his origin or even his career. It is not certainly known, even, whether he was a Greek or an Egyptian. Certain it is only that about the year 300 B. C., Euclid's fame as a mathematician had become fully recognized.

Euclid flourished during the reign of Ptolemy I., king of Egypt, who is said to have been one of his pupils. Under the patronage of this enlightened ruler, he founded a mathematical college, primarily a school for the study of geometry, in Alexandria, a great center of learning of that day. That was indeed a golden age; and Alexandria was a Mecca for the inquiring and studious minds of the East.

Euclid was fortunate in being able to build upon the broad and stable foundations for geometry laid by Thales and Pythagoras. Thales is generally credited with being the founder of Greek geometry. Of Pythagoras an old writer says that he "changed geometry into the form of a liberal science, regarding its principles in a purely abstract manner, and investigating its theorems from the immaterial and intellectual point of view." Euclid developed geometrical science in a systematic and orderly manner, giving rigorous proof of theorems which had been but loosely and imperfectly demonstrated before his time.

It has been conjectured that Euclid received his early training in mathematics at Athens, where various efforts were being made to reduce the subject matter of geometry to a logical basis. To Euclid is often attributed the memorable dictum, which his own experience in severe mental discipline had taught him: There is no royal road to geometry.

It is popularly supposed that Euclid's "Elements," in thirteen books, deal entirely with geometry. As a matter of fact, this great work also contains the theory of numbers and a considerable amount of algebra. Besides the famous "Elements," Euclid certainly wrote a treatise bearing on astronomical science and a work called "Data," of which a modern editor says that it is "the first in order of the books written by the ancient geometers to facilitate and promote the method of resolution or analysis."—Copyright, 1931, International Feature Service, Inc.

John Wilkes Booth as a Spy.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

General Sheridan believed he once had in his employment as a spy John Wilkes Booth, the assassin of President Lincoln. He usually employed volunteer soldiers of his own in this work, but one day a man, named Lomas, came to him with a letter of introduction from Edwin M. Stanton saying he was a Marylander, and wished to do scout work. Sheridan accepted him, although not wholly without misgivings.

Not long afterward Lomas brought to him a man whom he introduced as Renfrew, who, he said, had been with Mosby, the confederate guerrila leader, and after a break with him, desired to serve the union cause as a scout spy. He also was engaged, and the two were sent into confederate territory to burn a bridge. They returned a few weeks later reporting that the enterprise had failed, for which they had plausible excuses. An effort at investigation made by Sheridan, however, proved that they had made no effort to burn the bridge.

Sheridan was now convinced that both Lomas and Renfrew were confederate spies, but he determined to use them to give the confederates wrong information concerning his intended movements, so he had them make another attempt to burn the bridge, and this time he had their movements covered by a trusted officer. Before sending them out, however, Sheridan let them observe that the officers of the regiment were planning to have a great fox chase in about two weeks—let them see the red foxes and the pack of hounds brought in for that purpose—all a ruse, of course.

Giving them plenty of time to communicate with the enemy, both men were arrested as spies, but on the way back to union headquarters, they managed to escape, and were never seen again. When the pictures of Booth were published after the assassination of Lincoln, Sheridan was struck by the resemblance of Renfrew to Booth, and he was strongly inclined to think of them as the same person.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Feb. 12—Broadway's two most extravagantly-publicized figures in the past year were Texas Guinan and Rudy Vallee. A clipping bureau's check-up reveals each receiving free puffs that if paid for at space rates would total something more than a million.

A runner-up for limelight honors was Lou Diamond. But Texas is the veteran in establishing a "Page One" halo and maintaining it. She is regarded as perpetual copy, especially by tabloids, and is the peg upon which hung a thousand and one night life feature yarns.

She has no press agent any more. When publicity fires burn low she merely fires off a barrage of typical Guinan telegrams and usually scores a bull's-eye. Her almost constant companion in public is her handsome young brother, Tommy.

No other Broadway figure has appeared largely in modern fiction. She has been made the central character in two novels, at least half hundred short stories and a dozen talkie and legitimate stage productions. Her autobiography is being written.

She has shrewdly created an aura of White Way glamour. To the world she has become the lanky, red haired hoyden—the nocturnal wise cracker with a heart of pure gold. Behind her rowdy "Hello sucker!" is a mawkish tenderness for the visiting spenders. And all that rot.

She is reputed never to have smoked, touched her scarlet pursed lips to liquor and is "good to the folks.' The legend goes as she leaves the fetid closeness of her club at dawn to canter in the clean air of Central park.

Yet if the prophets are correct Miss Guinan's star in the Broadway heavens is descending. The night club furore has spent itself, and she is to take off shortly to conduct a club elsewhere. Her popularity is almost too New Yorkish. Hollywood once booed her.

• • •

There are many stories as to how much wealth Miss Guinan amassed in her reign as a rowdy night club queen. She is reported to have received a jousting in the market. For seasons she has made upward of $2,000 a week. Her chief extravagance is poker. She has lived in a modest brick house on Twelfth street for years. Her fortune is variously estimated from several hundred thousand to tabloid million.

Peculiarly no one made a tremendous fortune sponsoring night clubs. Gil Boag, who was a former night club king and the most successful of all, did not retire with a particularly large fortune. "Protection money" bit up the big earnings.

Oklahoma Changes Its Spots.

The high tide of impeachments in Oklahoma has so far ebbed that farmers in mass meetings are declaring for Governor Alfalfa Bill Murray's nomination for the presidency.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Washington Daybook.

BY HERBERT PLUMMER.

Washington, Feb. 12—There's a little game played every so often on the floor of the United States senate between a senator and one of the legislative clerks which goes unnoticed most of the time.

The senator is King, of Utah. The legislative clerk is John Crockett, a veteran employe of the senate.

It is Crockett's job to read the various bills to the senate. And associates say he can skip more and get caught less at it than any of his colleagues. And that's where the game comes in—

King, dignified and serious, insists that each bill be read in its entirety. And what's more, he sits by to see it done. At such times Crockett drones on and on, but with one eye on the Utah senator.

Let some other senator come over and speak to King or have his attention otherwise distracted and Crockett is off.

• • •

He jumps lines, sometimes half pages. But one never could tell it by the sound of his voice. And when King gets the opportunity to check up, he finds that pages have been covered with simply incredible speed.

There's nothing he can do about it. He may glare at Crockett, but that's all.

The reading clerk is supposed to read every word of a bill out loud. Sometimes they actually do so. But not often. Ingenious schemes are devised by the reading clerks in both houses.

Often a bill contains a collection of almost impossible words. Especially is this true of tariff bills.

Once during a tariff debate several years ago, the senate reading clerk "barged into" a group of such terrifying words that he attempted to dodge them. Senator Gallinger was the majority leader at the time.

The clerk pronounced the first one—a chemical compound of some sort—then skipped two pages by inserting the words "and sundry other products."

• • •

Gallinger halted him and insisted that the section be read in full. The clerk did so, but before he got through he was perspiring freely and the galleries and senate were in gales of laughter.

Most of the time the reading clerks dope out the prounuciation of these tongue-twisters ahead of time. During consideration of the last tariff bill, the readers found that by dividing up those alphabetical wonders in the chemical schedule into their syllabic parts, using pencil marks, they could at least get by.

It was a familiar sight to see Crockett working hard at the job of dividing such words as "phenylglycineortho-carboxylic" prior to the hour when he would have to pronounce it to the senators.

POPE'S RADIO MESSAGE TEXT

By The Associated Press

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 12—The text of the pope's radio address, as translated from Latin into English follows.

"We are the first successors of the Prince of Apostles to whom it has been given to speak to all nations and all places.

"Listen ye heavens, to what I say. Listen all ye islands. Let the first word be to the glory of God in the highest and on earth peace and good will to men.

"Glory of God because He has given such power to men that their words may go to the end of the earth.

"Hear ye who speak: hear ye all nations, hear ye all who inhabit the face of the earth.

"We, having the guidance of God on earth of all those who are on earth, it behooves us to speak to those of the Catholic church.

"Our Lord Jesus Christ has given to us the shepherd of all the world, the office of caring for both the lambs and the sheep.

"You cardinals, patriarchs, archbishops and bishops and prelates scattered throughout the world we beg that each of you persevere in your vocation.

"God who brought forth the great shepherd from the dead, He too begs that you persevere in every good.

"Now we speak to those who are confined to their convents and those who are engaged in the great ministry of spreading the Gospel and who are in those houses of holy contemplation:

"Be ye diligent in your vocation. Already you know our custom. All ye who are propagating the church of Christ in foreign lands.

"You who have frequently been in chains who have suffered trials and hardships, continue to win souls and to make soldiers for Christ, priests who are your great help in propagating the faith, we order you to continue.

"To the bishops of the world especially to you, persevere in your apostolic labor. You are an elected race, a royal priesthood, we offer our prayers that there may be one flock and one shepherd.

"To the rulers of the world we say that all power is from God.

"Subjects, be ye obedient. He who resists power resists God and brings eternal damnation on yourself.

"To the rich we say: You are the ministers of divine providence; let your goods be dispensed to the poor. Remember the words of Christ—'woe to the rich.'

"Poor people, remember the words of Christ, the example of Christ.

"Workers and employers, work together in fraternal charity, seeking always what is just.

"Last in execution, but first in intention, we remember those who are afflicted with infirmities and sufferings, offering our prayers and our help and remembering the words of Him whose person we represent. 'Come unto me all ye who labor and are heavy laden and I will refresh ye.'

"In the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. Amen."

STATION IS POWERFUL

Pope Now in Position to Communicate With Most of World

By The Associated Press.

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 12—The Vatican radio station inaugurated today a powerful plant that gives the pope opportunity to communicate with most of the world either by radio telegraphy or radiotelephony.

The Vatican electric power plant also inaugurated today, gives it a power of 12 kilowatts. By broadcasting on a short wave length—19.84 meters—the station is able to communicate with stations as far distant as Alaska or Argentina.

The short wave installation received the particular attention of the Marquis Marconi, inventor of practical wireless. Marconi put his latest apparatus into the station.

The apparatus is housed in a neat brick building containing seven rooms, five for the instruments, one for the transmitting studio, and one for visitors.

In the pontiff's office there is a special radio-telephone instrument that will permit him, whenever he wishes, to broadcast to the world, or to carry on telephonic conversations with papal nuncios, delegates or legates thousands of miles away.

The pope will be in easy communication with his representatives in virtually every country owing to the existence of radio stations in Roman Catholic universities and institutions. Many of these are in America. His messages thus will be freed from passing through the hands of foreign government or telegraph companies. Cable or radio messages hitherto sent from Vatican City had to pass through the Italian radio or cable companies.

taxi entrance when the two men rushed him. He was badly beaten.

The police department immediately broadcast a lookout to all outlying precincts and its motorized forces in an attempt to intercept the bandit car and its occupants.

Suspect Released

Police patrolling in automobiles released one suspect after Johnson had failed to identify him. A physicians examination of Johnson failed to show him badly bruised.

There was some mystery as to just how many men had participated. Three lead pipes were found in the station concourse. Johnson testified two men attacked him. However, a negro who was attending the mail truck said a man coming from another direction had threatened him with what he believed was a revolver.

Officials said the custom of sending money for redemption was to cut an identification mark through it, then to cut the bill in half the long way in the bank which was returning it. The lower half of the bill then is sent to the treasury, where it is checked and a telegram is sent to the bank that it has been received. The upper half of the notes are not sent until the bank has received the telegram verifying the receipt and check of the first shipment.

Recall Witness in Trial of Mal S. Daugherty

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON C. H., O., Feb. 12—John Perrill, a Fayette county farmer who said he signed two checks which the state claims Mal S. Daugherty used to defraud the closed Ohio State bank, was recalled to the witness stand today in Daugherty's trial on a charge of abstraction of bank funds.

Perrill testified he indorsed two checks for $2,500 each shortly before the bank closed last May, but was unable to explain how his name appeared on a note which the prosecution contends Daugherty, former president of the bank, intends to offer as security. The farmer denied having signed the note.

The pope concluded his address at 11:05. He had spoken for 12 minutes. From the microphone of the radio station he proceeded to the pontifical academy of science, to address the academy.

These followed in German, Spanish, Polish and English a station announcement telling listeners the pope had given this apostolic blessing to Rome and to the world:

ENGLISH TANKS BEST IN WORLD

British Army Best Equipped in World, Army Leader Asserts.

LONDON—"Today the British Army is preeminently first in mechanization. It seems probable that we will arrive at the next war ahead of all other countries as regards both the quality of our armored vehicle and the ideals underlying their use."

Colonel P. A. Pile, Assistant Director of Mechanization at the War Office made this declaration at the Royal United Service Institution.

"If England should arrive at the outbreak of a war, added Colonel Pile, 'with so few vehicles that in a short time they would be all used up, all the research work and money that has been spent in experimenting would have been wasted. In war time production is not hampered by lack of means and the enemy could make up in quantity what England possessed in quantity.

"It is no exaggeration to say that at a cost of $50,000,000 prior to war we could make it impossible during the first few weeks for the enemy to carry on.

"The tank originally came into being in order that men might cross no-man's land into safety. From that beginning evolved a machine capable of avoiding bullet-swept zone, of traveling great distances and fighting battles at the end of them. No longer is the tank a short-range weapon but an exceedingly long one.

"England's latest 16-ton tank is easily the most powerful weapon ever given to a soldier to handle. No enemy within a radius of 100 miles is safe from a surprise attack by these machines.

"By means of the new direction indicator it is possible to drive a tank in a fog on a certain bearing, to overcome obstacles and to arrive at a target with almost exact precision. In order to protect these large machines the light tank has been devised. Actually, one of these 'scouts' has covered ninety miles in three hours.

"In the future there will be only two main types, a light tank and a medium tank similar to the present 16-ton machine. The light tank will be operated by two men."

Why He Grew Whiskers

Governor W. M. Brucker of Michigan speaking before the Midday Luncheon club read in public for the first time the letter from an 11-year-old New York girl which influenced the emancipator to grow a beard. The letter, written by Grace Bedell of Westfield, N. Y. follows in part:

"Westfield, Chautauqua county, New York, October 15, 1860.

"Hon. Abraham Lincoln, dear sir. My father has just come home from the fair and brought home your picture. I am a little girl only 11 years old, but want you should be President of the United States very much. So I hope you won't think me very bold to write such a great man as you are. • • •

"I have got four brothers and part of them will vote for you anyway. If you will let your whiskers grow I will try and get the rest of them to vote for you. You would look a great deal better, for your face is so thin. All the ladies like whiskers and they would tease their husbands to vote for you and then you would be President."

As a result of this letter from the little girl Lincoln stopped at Westfield on a campaign train after the board had been grown and calling for the little girl lifted her up and kissed her, drawing her attention to the fact he had taken her advice, the governor said.

SAW LINCOLN SHOT

Ohio War Veteran Probably Only Living Witness to Tragedy.

By The Associated Press.

LINDLAY, O., Feb. 12. Memory of the drooping form of Abraham Lincoln as he died from an assassin's bullet 66 years ago remains vividly in the mind of William Roberts, 87-year-old Civil war veteran and probably the only living witness to the slaying of the former president.

Roberts was only 19 saw Lincoln shot April 15, 1865 in Ford's theater, Washington, and today while the nation observed the anniversary of the great emancipator, the old soldier recalled the excitement that followed the killing.

A member of the cavalry troop assigned to guard the capitol during the war, Roberts went to the theater with a companion. Soldiers were admitted free. They arrived only a few minutes before the President entered and occupied a box less than 40 feet from their seats.

Roberts cavalry troops joined in the hunt for John Wilkes Booth, the assassin and he was present when Booth was shot to death south of Washington a month later. Roberts, now bent by his years, saw a year's service in the war, first with a Michigan battery and later with a New York cavalry company. He has lived in Findlay for many years.

Must Be an Aviator To Play in Unique Orchestra

NEW YORK—The singing of a plane streaking through the wind with its whirring propellors, and its humming motors is the new American music which Tom Truesdale, son of a southern Methodist minister, is trying to create with his unique orchestra—the Musical Aviators.

Every one of the 11 musicians in the band is an aviator. If they don't fly they don't play—for Tom.

The orchestra cooperatively owns two sport-model, open cockpit planes which they tune up daily for pleasure spins in between playing over the Columbia broadcasting system and at a New York hotel.

• • •

"A good musician makes a good aviator and a good aviator makes a good musician," said Truesdale in an interview. "Both flying and musical playing calls for coordination, a sense of rhythm and balance."

Director Truesdale is father of a new rhythm which he calls the "aeroplane tempo." It isn't as fast a tempo as Duke Ellington's orchestra nor as slow as Guy Lombardo's dance music. It is between the two with a tendency toward faster pace.

Truesdale [illegible] the tango, the Charleston, the black-bottom or the regular current dance steps. He says it is also extremely collegiate.

Put it all together and I don't know what it spells—but it sounds great. There's also a singing mechanic in the gang only his white uniform is a little too white for his mechanical reputation. The others in the orchestra are also dressed swell—in aviator's uniforms. It's a shame you can't see them over the radio.

• • •

Young Truesdale was born in Columbia, S. C. He studied the violin from the age of seven and had an ambition to be a concert violinist or an aviator. He went to the University of South Carolina but broke off his education to concentrate on his music.

He came to New York at 20 years of age and studied at the Belgian conservatory of music from which he was graduated with high honors. He returned again to teach violin, [illegible] years [illegible] he [illegible]

Ohio Supreme Court Affirms Decision in Graft Cases.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 12 — The cases of C. Clayton Terrell, former Clinton county commissioner, must be retried, the Ohio supreme court held yesterday in affirming the court of appeals.

Mown was convicted of participation in profits for hauling stone for the township and Terrell on a charge of presenting a false bill for $120 to the county commissioners. The appellate court held that the judge who presided at the trials erred in his charge to the juries.

Courts of appeals have the right to order common pleas courts to grant divorces in uncontested cases if the evidence justifies such action, the supreme court rules in upholding a decision by the Hamilton county appellate court in the divorce suit of Bradford Cassady against Adeline Cassady. Attorneys sought reversal of the order on the ground that it set a dangerous precedent and was contrary to law.

THE CRIME IN THE DUTCH GARDEN

Admitting ...ment to Evelyn, Duck...worth said that though Miss Querdling had threatened to disinherit Evelyn on her marriage, he had told her he could support his wife without help.

After Duckworth had formally sworn his innocence of the crime, the servents were questioned. Ben Acres said he had seen no one enter or leave the house or grounds. Ted Green, the chauffeur, again explained his work on the car and explained his absence from the garage to fetch the hammer. Again he told of the empty car he saw outside the grounds as he hurried for the doctor.

The maids, Janet Raynes and Hetty Smith, related their doings, the former causing some amusement by her admission of listening to the singing. Each swore complete innocence of the crime.

Mrs. Frater provoked laughter when she told of leaving her bed directly the doctor departed, but denied the coroner's assertion that she had disobeyed her mistress.

"Yes," insisted Burbeck, "you were told to remain in bed."

"No, sir. The mistress said stop in bed till the doctor sees you. And I did."

The next witness was the butcher's assistant, Alfred Collett. He showed on the plan the spot in the lane where he and Daphne Frater met. His appointment was for 9 o'clock, and, while she had kept him waiting a few minutes, he was home again at about 10.

"Did any one pass you in the lane while you were there?"

"Noa, sir—leastways, not on foot. There wor a motor car."

The car, he told the coroner was going toward the golf links. It wasn't a big one, but he couldn't see who was driving, as the lights "coom on sudden."

More questions were asked, but he could not add to his replies. It seemed probable that he had seen the car noted afterwards as empty by the chauffeur. Collett swore he had not been inside the gardens and certainly had not injured their owner.

Every one at Merrow Craig at the time of the tragedy had been called. Stirling, who had heard the testimony, had not been questioned but if he had not been on the premises at the time it was useless to call him.

But this was not all. Mr. Charles Morgan was called, and a well built man took the stand. A lawyer, he practiced in Bradford, but had been away and had just got in touch with the police. He said that three weeks previously he had been sent for by his client, Miss Querdling, who told him the lines on which she wished her will drawn.

"There were many charitable bequests, some gifts to servants and one substantial legacy," he said. "Subject to these, and they represented about one-third of the estate, everything was left in rtust to be divided equally between her two nieces for their lives. At their death it all went to charities. There was, however, a curious and unusual condition."

"They were to adopt the name of Querdling. If either of the nieces married she would immediately forfeit all interest under the will."

Every eye turned to the two girls whose fates and fortunes were thus made so prominent.

"Marriage would have operated the same as death. The money would have passed to the selected charities. I told Miss Querdling that such a clause would not be legally effective.

"She told me to carry out her instructions and I agreed under protest. Meanwhile I had obtained counsel's opinion which upheld mine. I told her again such a will would lead to litigation, left it with her, but begged her to reconsider."

"Can you say whether she executed the will?" the coroner inquired.

"No. I heard nothing more."

The coroner's next question was listened to intently.

"If that will was not executed, would a previous will be effective or would there be an intestacy?"

"There was no previous will, so there would be no intestacy and the estate would be divided equally among the next of kin—in this case, I believe, a nephew and two nieces, and would pass absolutely, not merely with life interests."

Again the eyes of the curious glanced at the two sisters. They might well hope that that strange will had never been completed!

"Have any steps been taken to see what Miss Querdling did with the will?" asked the coroner.

"I went to Merrow Craig this morning," answered Morgan. "The police were with me. We searched through Miss Querdling's papers, but we could not find it. I saw her place it in a certain drawer in her desk. It was not there."

"You think she may have destroyed it?"

"It would seem so, but it contained a list of bequests, carefully planned, and I should not have expected her to destroy that."

"You are suggesting that the will is lost—or has been removed?"

"I am only suggesting," said the solicitor, "a more complete search."

There were a few more questions and then as Morgan was about to leave the box, the coroner spoke.

"What was that substantial legacy you mentioned?"

"A gift of 5,000 pounds to a friend, Major Wilbert Gresham."

Every one now looked at the major, who tried to appear unconscious of the new interest he had caused. The coroner recalled Evelyn and Marjorie, who said they had not known their aunt was making a will. Evelyn remembered that Miss Querdling was away on the day Morgan said he had left the will behind.

Coroner Burbeck in his summing up, explained that the jurors, if convinced the tragedy was due to an accident, had to report accordingly. On the other hand, it was their duty to point to foul play if the evidence justified.

As the jury filed out, Jimmie went across to Richmond, who introduced him to Morgan. Jimmie asked the lawyer for an explanation of Miss Querdling's desire that her nieces remain single.

"As a young woman she was engaged to be married," Morgan said. "The man, a fellow called Blake, bolted with her sister instead. Blake was a bad lot. Ill-used his wife and finally deserted her and the three young children, and died in America. His wife died, and Miss Annabelle, to whom the father had left everything, adopted the daughters. I believe she helped the boy, but she sent him away. She had no use for men, and she wanted her nieces to help her make them pay for what she had suffered."

As Morgan concluded, Roscoe attracted the attention of his superior. He seemed bursting with eagerness.

"What is it?" asked Richmond, turning to him.

"I have just seen him,—the man that night outside the house."

"Who do you mean?"

End Your Piles Without Salves or Cutting

External treatments cannot permanently end Piles. Nor does cutting remove the cause.

The cause is internal—bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel. The veins are flabby—the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles an internal medicine must be used to heal and strengthen the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, a specialist, after years of study discovered a real internal Pile remedy. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1000 patients, with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID from their own druggist.

Don't waste time on external remedies or think of the pain and expense of an operation until you have tried HEM-ROID. Henney & Cooper will supply you and guarantee money-back if it does not end all Pile misery.—Adv.

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

TOMORROW is Friday, and day after tomorrow is Valentine Day. I have four bits for valentines but I haven't spent it because I thought maybe something might happen and I might get some more, but nothing has. I would like to get Younias a nice valentine with little Stupids all over it, but I have got to get some funny ones, and a fella can't do much with four-bits. When I had let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth and had put on my short britches and swiped a piece of punkin pie out of the pantry to eat on the way to the barn, and had milked my dummed brutes and went in the house and was feeding my face, I asted my father if men sent valentines to their wives after they were married, and my mother spoke up and said, "No, they don't." Then my father looked kinda red in the face and asted me if I was thinking of buying a valentine and I told him no, that I was thinking of getting married. Everybody at the table hollered except my ant and Annabelle Lee and my ant even grinned, and Annabelle Lee hammered on her chair with her spoon. I don't see what there was funny about that. Then my father put his hand in his pocket and asted me if half a dollar would be enough, and I said it would if I couldn't get more, and then my grandfather gave me a half a dollar too. So I had a dollar and a half all together. It is easy to make money if a fella knows how.

The girls at school have a new game they call "sugar lump," it is played in a circle and the girls pick out someone they call their sugar lump to whirl with. The way they picked me out they must have knowed I had money. I was whirling with Younias when the Lost Bag of Tripe poked Hopper's crutch between my feet and I fell all over her. He skun out up the steps to run inside the school, but the door hadn't been unlocked yet, and just as I paisted him one the door opened and the principle said, "What is the meaning of this?" and the Lost Bag of Tripe said, "We were just playing." He must be getting to be a good sport.

Valentine day comes on Saturday and we are going to have it at the school on Friday, so I had to go and spend my money after school and the whole bunch had to go along. So Younias knows what I have got for her. I don't care. I got a good one for a dollar and a lot of funny ones. On the way home we all went around to Glenmie's house and her mother made us all come inside and made us some hot lemonade, and she gave me a half a dollar an dtold me to buy a valentine for Glenmie and leave it at their door at night. I told her I didn't have enough to buy ... half ...

Glennie is lucky to have a mother like that.

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

The Dash of Dicky and Harry Nullifies the Attempt to Bomb the Farmhouse.

ALL THAT I had ever read of "pineapples" and gang warfare swirled around me sickeningly as I saw the man on the running board of the speeding car hurl a sinister, dark object with a glowing red end toward the farmhouse. Even through the terror which froze me motionless, the whole scene seemed fantastic unreal. Surely it was not the peaceful farmhouse which was so menaced. And why should men whose sole object was the securing of Marion's lock box with its secret compartment and mysterious contents be so murderously vindictive as to try to bomb our home when their plot to burglarize the bank was foiled?

For there was no longer any doubt in our minds that the men in the speeding car were those whom Mr. Corwin the banker had just telephoned us had been drowned in the Peconic Bay while trying to escape from the posse in pursuit of them. Harry Underwood had deduced a fake escape, and a doubling back upon their tracks but I think even he had had no idea of what had just happened.

Thoughts, of course, are quicker than any actions, but it seemed to me that the dark object flung by the man had not yet reached the ground before Dicky, nearest the veranda door, had torn it open and dashed toward it. The lights of the speeding car had faded away and in the darkness we could see only the glowing end.

Harry Underwood shouted out directly after Dicky, but the lighter, younger man outstripped him and crushing back the scream which was tearing my throat I saw my husband scoop up the can, pick up the black object as it sputtered, putting real fun with it to the road and hurl it in a tremendous arc into the open field beyond. Then he sprinted back to the house calling "Run to the children. There'll be broken glass if nothing worse."

We were half way up the stairs when the explosion came—a sputter and then a bang such as results from a large Roman candle.

As we reached the bedroom doors my father's voice spoke softly from the stairs.

"I do not believe there will be anything more," he said. "Come down, please."

There was that in his voice which made us obey him as if we were children and in a moment we were again back on the veranda.

"That was either a dud, a threat or a bit of quixotic humor," he said. "In any case we have been spared. My sons," he put a hand upon the shoulder of each of the two men, "that was as fine an exhibition of bravery upon the part of both of you as I have ever seen."

"Hang the laurels on the Dicky bird!" Harry said. "He deserves them. All I did was to fall over my own feet while he skimmed the ground like a—"

"Shut up!" Dicky growled affectionately. "You weren't a split second back of me all the way. But are we going to take this lying down? Are these the birds that are supposed to be feeding the fishes at the ferry slip over in North Haven? If they are, they're the liveliest corpses I've seen for many a day. Or are they perchance our Chinese friends?"

"Not the Chinese." My father's tones were grim. "If they had attempted anything like this we would not be here now. They are more efficient in their methods, but, happily, they are too wily to come out into the open like this except in their own private wars. We must look for something more subtle from them. No, these men are the ones whose car is in the water at the foot of the ferry, I am sure. They simply have executed a clever feint, and doubled back upon their tracks."

"Are you going to let them keep on doubling, Dad?"

An Astounding Implication

Dicky's tone, despite the difference which he always pays my father, held distinct impatience, and I guessed that both he and Harry Underwood were chafing at their enforced inaction. They would have had both cars out and been well on their way in chase of the bandits if my father had given the word instead of holding them in colloquy.

"I think it would be wise, Richard," my father said slowly. "After all, it is our private quarrel. I do not believe anything in the bank save Marion's lock-box in the safety deposit vault would have been disturbed, had they been successful in their attempt to get in. As far as we are concerned, I think we'd better accept officially the belief of Sag Harbor that the bank robbers are in the bottom of Peonic Bay. At least," he added astoundingly after a second's pause, "until we find out what is really in that missile over yonder in the field."

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.
